...World Renowned "Old Greenbrier White" Made Practically New...

Finest Golf Course in America. Grounds and Every Building Lighted by Electricity. Perfect Sewer System. Hot and Cold Water in Every Room. Mammoth Telephone Exchange Connecting Every Room. Five Miles of Macadamized Drives Within the Grounds. New and Complete Laundry. & & & & &

Announcement

The company which has acquired the famous Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs property is expending more than $150,000 to make the most noted mountain resort practically new and in every respect up-to-date in all of its appointments.

The improvements that will be completed before the opening day, June 15th, consist of a complete Sewer System, Telephone Exchange connecting every room in hotel and cottages, a Modern Laundry, miles of Macadam Drives, a new and commodious Casino and the finest Golf Course in America.

Old Things Made New

Every room in the hotel has been overhauled and beautified. Every cottage has been practically rebuilt and refurnished in comfortable style. Private bathrooms have been installed, and the water works furnish hot and cold water in every room.

All of the buildings have been repainted, repapered and otherwise ornamented, green and white being the color scheme. Indeed, everything has been made new at the Old White.

MAKING GOLF COURSE

On the Grounds

The grounds, the loveliest in America, made more lovely by the handiwork of nurserymen and landscape gardeners.

Surrounding hills, walks, woodland nooks, etc., improved and beautified, and all lighted by electricity.

Finest Golf in America

The Golf Course, with its sporty natural hazards, declared by the champion golf player of the country to be the finest in America, was laid off by Alexander Findlay, the Champion Golfer of the World, and pronounced by him to be the climax of perfection in golf courses.

Clock Golf has also been installed on the lawn. It is determined to make the New (old) White the golf centre of the country.

Commodious Casino

A new building is a great addition, overlooking the tennis courts, and will be a handsomely appointed Casino. No expense will be spared to make this building a rendezvous for guests that will be a joy and a comfort.

New and larger stables to accommodate the finest of equipages, making the New White Sulphur, with its miles of drives, the horse-lovers' delight.

Notwithstanding all of these vast improvements which make the New White completely modern in all of its appointments the old rates will generally prevail. Old habitués will find their old rooms in hotel and cottages made so new they will not know them, and with all modern improvements, at the old rates.

Season opens June 15th, at which time the band will be on the lawn and all of the above-mentioned improvements will be completed. Write for catalogs and booklets.

SOME BASEBALL TALK

BY HALF NELSON.

The last vestige of "knock" has been thrown into the traditional cocked hat, and the Colts have it all their own way. Of course, that way will only last until the first defeat, but it feels good while it lasts. If you don't shout until you get out of the wood you may never be able to shout, and shouting is a whole lot of fun.

It was noted during the game yesterday afternoon that a delegation composed of Manager Griffin, Catcher Messitt and Umpire Pender had to go into the diamond, while the game waited, to define the exact limits of the pitcher's box. That diamond that "never was in better condition" seems to be a little hazy about the box, at any rate. Another case in point is that when Baker sent a rattling drive into right field and the occupant of that garden jugged the ball, the diminutive shortstop lost a bag because his spikes refused to catch in the sand about first base, and he narrowly escaped falling down. He could have made second easily with good footing about first base.

If the rest of the pitchers make good as solidly as Halo and Revelle have in the first two games of the season, Manager Lawlor will stay up nights darning which of the six had better be let go. Verboten is good, as everybody knows, who saw him work out some comment, and Bleacher Jim generally retired to his seat with the grandstand laughing, mostly at the other man.

Verboten or Peterson will go in this afternoon to make it three straight from the Bugs, and then the Colts will be happy. There is something gratifying about cleaning up the Bugs that gives a zest to the victories that few things can give. It looks good on the scoreboard.

Pender was a little flustered yesterday afternoon when the first base coach began saying things that fell in his general direction. It was impossible to hear what the coach was saying, but if he intended making Pender look like a setting hen that has been disturbed he was eminently successful. He flustered about as if he wanted to do something, and the coach retired to the doghouse.

When Brown gets over that charley horse he is going to demonstrate what real third-basing is. Those who have never played with a charley horse don't realize what a handicap the third baseman is working under. The best description of the malady is that every time a step is taken it feels exactly as if a railroad spike had been driven into the thigh midway between knee and hip.

Poor old Jim Orange! He is on his last legs now, and the best thing the fan can do is to drop a contribution in Jim Connolly's hat for him.

The head rooster is missed from his stand in the 10-cent side of the park, and although his part was not a very heavy one, there seems to be no one to take his place. One or two have taken a hand at it, but they don't come back at the players with the same rebound that Bleacher Jim did in his palmy days. Never a one went by without some comment, and Bleacher Jim gen-

TARHEELS TAKE THIRD GAME FROM VIRGINIA

Charlottesville Boys Win Series, Having Previously Defeated Carolina Two Games--Witmer Succeeds Culbertson in Box.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] He fanned ten and yielded only five scattered hits. In the third inning, with the bases full, he retired Fitchett on an easy grounder. In only one other inning, the seventh, did Virginia threaten. Blakeney singled to centre, stole second and went to third on a fielder's choice. Roan sent a pop fly to Duncan and Witmer fanned.

While the game was clearly played there were few fielding features. Good catches were made by Hume and Hitch.
